It's Time for a Plan to Guide African American Children's Journey Through School

This meeting will focus on best practices for teaching African American children. Come and hear the latest strategies for teaching African American males. Everyone who is concerned about the academic achievement gap that affects African American children in urban schools should attend. Everyone who is concerned about the assimilation of African American children into suburban and private schools should attend. Activists who want to join the FIGHT for educational equity for African American children in terms of equality of resources and outcomes should attend.

Keynote: Dr. Gloria Ladson-Billings, Kellner Family Professor in Urban Education, University of Wisconsin Madison, author of The Dreamkeepers: Successful Teachers of African American Children

Dr. James C. Young, Professor, Clark Atlanta University, Moderator

Dr. Robert W. Simmons III, Assistant Professor, Eastern Michigan University

Godfrey Dillard, Esq., Lead Attorney, Supreme Court University of Michigan Affirmative Action Case
